

Some of the frameworks that we considered using included React or Angular for the frontend, Node.js or jQuery for the backend, and MongoDB for the database. Along the way, we decided on using HTML and jQuery with MongoDB as the database. The reason we chose to work with these tools is because we had trouble trying to get a response from the API call when using Node.js and found better luck when using jQuery. We also found better tutorials for jQuery.